The pair, Liao Zhongkai and Niu He, first met at a karaoke bar in Shanghai, where Ms. Liao, a well-regarded painter, was performing. Mr. Niu followed her, according to accounts published in Chinese media. Mr. Niu, a senior Chinese Communist Party official in charge of monitoring education, told Chinese media that he had proposed to Ms. Liao a year ago but that her family was opposed. He said he did not want to marry her. Ms. Liao, who lives in Shanghai and is believed to be a senior painter at the Shanghai Artists Association, told Chinese media that the pair began discussing marriage in December 2015, when their families approved and they decided to wait until they were divorced to marry. Some interesting news items from around the league. Titans release McConkey This is not a shocker in today's cut-throat NFL, but it would have been if the Titans had kept McConkey. But McConkey will fill an important role in the next Broncos defense. – Titans release linebacker Paul McConkey today. – Texans get lucky: Zach Diles was released by Raiders today, and this was not expected, making him available for a lesser-experienced team. – Titans get undrafted: Vanderbilt safety Kevin Byard and Miami receiver Artavis Scott were undrafted but are on roster. – Browns keep Williams, Baker – Browns trade for McFadden – Broncos get Talib – Vikings sign Krom – Rams look to trade from tight end spot – Pats look for running back help – Bucs cut Mars
