Q: Dart Remoting for Flutter http server My question here is if Dart can be used for http server. Since it is made for easy backend to talk to web service, can the http server be written in Dart? I just wonder if it is possible or not.

A: Dart's http server runs on the UI thread. As such, you cannot use other threads in the server. Typically Dart servers use server implementations like Flux or Hydra, or choose to simply not use a server and just rely on networking.
