MoreX-Plane 11 Games Add-on: Skyline Simulations - Creating Burning Skies Earlier this year, I installed this Airplane! wall decal onto my friend's apartment wall. This was due to the fact that all apartments and houses in the German country side had to undergo a massive air conditioning renovation, and this one did not. It was always around 24 degrees in the room and it was driving me nuts. So my friend asked me if I could install the airplane decal onto his living room. The result: 100% cooler than before, and now it has been there for almost 6 months now. I've always meant to make a short video concerning this Airplane! wall decal, so here we are. The only reason this Airplane! wall decal cost €1,49 is because they're a little large at 52x95cm. There are however other Airplane! wall decals that have a smaller size. However, all of them are smaller versions of this, and most of them are scaled down to a square (for example, these), which is much smaller in size. The decal is also much lighter in color, but who cares. It still looks good. There are of course other Airplane! wall decals that are not simply an airplane, and instead have a full decoration of airplanes or some other subject. This Airplane! wall decal is a very basic, small one, but it works pretty well. However, if you're looking for something else. this is not it. Dimension Ø: 52cm L: 95cm Video Notes: - Do you have the decal?? Can you send me a photo of it? - Please share our video and let it go viral. - Comment everything down below, I'm always looking for cool stuff to put in my next video. - There are lots of Airplane! Products out there! - Make sure to like and subscribe! KLGB is an artificial island in the United States. The KLGB airport as d41b202975

-83 Thunderjets Latest Forum Posts COOL STUFF: * When I logged on last night (17th Aug), the weather was X-Plane 10's version of oncoming clouds. * World 6 used the regular weather HSF file and World 6 and 1 used the target HSF file. * However when I logged on today (18th Aug) the bases used the basic weather HSF file and World 6 and 1 used the target HSF file. * In addition, you can see the difference in the two sky pictures in the screenshot of the World 6 panel. * I'm not sure if the above reflects what happened recently, but I can't account for it. The following LBA images are provided by KLGB. The first one is the Xplor World 6 but the time is 1:29. Of course we're the first to know the full cockpit, we were first to recognize the chicken scratches when we saw the cockpit and then RB and Soxsek saw it thanks to the eagle eye of NYXP. Unfortunately it is only made available in 640*480 but it is a whole lot of fun to look at. This is another shot of the same jet but in X-Plane 11. Now I won't be the first to say that this looks real, but there is some "voodoo" going on below the plane. In the second as well as another shot just noticed. Finally, a small screen grab that shows the edges of the bush around the runway. SOUNDS FUNNY: * As the makers of X-Plane say - "Full cockpit not included". * The unique - "X-Wing" wing shape is clearly not original. SOME INFO (or maybe it should not be here:): * Base-area is NOT fully functional. The runways and the apron are the only supported features as far as I know. * All the taxiways and approach-ramps are automatically implemented by the developers, you can use the X-Plane 11 game's Taxiway Tool to assist you though. How to get it, or what files must be downloaded: * X-Plane 11 is FREE, download it on the website. * KLGB uses Dallas Aviation's Skyline Simulations2 addon. * Download their addon via their website. * This addon already comes pre-installed on the machine
