They are both Windows 2008 R2 servers on which only ASP.NET was installed (with IIS managed) All of a sudden, an application pool can no longer be accessed via the web, but I can connect to it via windows authentication. When trying to connect via the IIS manager (www.localhost), I get a 401 "unauthorized" error. I can login to the servers via their login, however. What can I do to solve this? Edit: This is what I'm seeing from tracing request for the 401: System.Security.Cryptography.CryptographicException: The 'KeyNotFoundException was unhandled by user code Message= Key not found in secret store Source=Microsoft.Practices.IdentityModel.Extensions StackTrace: at Microsoft.Practices.IdentityModel.Configuration.Secrets.SecretManager.LookupKey(String key, String secret) at Microsoft.Practices.IdentityModel.Configuration.Aes.AesCryptographyService.CreateCngKey(String salt) at Microsoft.Practices.IdentityModel.Configuration.Aes.AesCryptographyService.CreateAesKey(String key, String salt) at Microsoft.Practices.IdentityModel.Configuration.Aes.AesCryptographyService.GetDecryptedKey(String key, String salt) at Microsoft.Practices.IdentityModel.Configuration.Aes.AesCryptographyService.GetDecryptedKey(String key) at Microsoft.Practices.IdentityModel.Configuration.Aes.CryptographyService.DecryptHelper.DecryptHash(HashAlgorithm algorithm, String key, String value, String salt) at Microsoft.Practices.IdentityModel.Configuration.Aes.CryptographyService.

Q: Why does TSystemMessage.nError return true in Delphi 7? i need to receive system messages in my app and put them in a table. The program is compiled in Borland Delphi 7. The codes are: procedure TForm1.BindEdit1Click(Sender: TObject); var SM: TSystemMessage; begin SM := TSystemMessage.Create(TMessageContainer.Create); SM.Tid := TIdMessageQueue.MessageIdQueue.Next; SM.nError := True; Edit1.Text := SM.Message.Text; Edit2.Text := TIdMessageQueue.EncodeText(SM.Message); Edit3.Text := SM.Description.Text; end; The text sent by the application are shown in the edit1 and edit3. By debugging i saw that the error messages are set to true, while they are really false. Any solution? Thanks in advance. EDIT Thanks for the answers. This is what i wanted to, in other words, i have a thread on a background who watches for error messages on a specific event and the messages are shown on the main form. what i thought was that the message wasnt sent, but i was wrong. i´m setting the TSystemMessage::nError to true since when i set it to false the program just crashed. Studies conducted with people with Parkinson's disease have had variable results when trying to assess the changes in dietary intake of this population due to the use of nutritional intervention programs. The objective was to compare the dietary intake of a sample of individuals with Parkinson's disease in two moments: one in which patients received nutritional intervention; the other without this intervention. A descriptive study was conducted in a set of patients with Parkinson's disease attending different outpatient units in the state of Jalisco, Mexico. Food consumption was assessed using three-day food records and nutritional intake was calculated according to the Mexican Institute of Nutrition. The analysis of nutrient intake revealed that the sample consumed insufficient quantities of nutrients such as fiber, calcium, zinc, selenium, vitamin D and folic acid. Patients who had received nutritional intervention improved in
